§1 Subject of the Licence

1) Subject of the contract is the existing computer programme; in this case the activated full version including - if in a case necessary - the licence file for activation, (the "Software"), as well as the programme description, operating instructions and other pertinent materials (the "documentation"). "Third-Party Software" means certain software Licensor may have licensed from third parties and provides to Licensee with or within the Software. Certain Third-Party Software provided with the Software is subject to various other terms and conditions imposed by the licensors of such Third-Party Software. As applicable, the terms of your use of the Third-Party Software is subject to and governed by their respective licenses except that Section 4.2 ("As is/Disclaimer of Warranty") and Section 5 ("Limitation of Liability") of this Agreement also govern the use of the Third-Party Software. Licensee may view the relevant licenses and/or notices for such Third-Party Software by visiting the URL referenced at the end of this Agreement. Licensee agrees to comply with terms and conditions contained in all such Third-Party Software licenses. Licensee is hereby notified that certain persons and entities who have licensed Third-Party Software to Licensor for inclusion in the Software are third party beneficiaries to this Agreement as it applies to their respective software product(s) included in the Software. The Software will be deemed accepted by Licensee on the date Licensee purchases the software and accepts the software during the Purchase Procedure or accepts the License on another way.

2) The Software is part of the licence as it is described in the product description of serie a, that shall be considered during the purchase procedure. The Software may but shall not have any supplementary characteristics and/ or qualities additional to the described. If the Licensee needs a software that fullfills certain legal or other business qualifications, he is not allowed to presume that the Software would be adequate, when the description given of the Software does not document the adequance. In case of necessity of certain software specifications and especially of incertitude the Licensee has to refer to serie a and make sure if the software can be used for his purposes. If he does not reassure himself, it is on his own risk.

3) The transfer of the main programme to the Licensee shall take place (after the order has been placed) either by means of download by the Licensee from the website of the Licensor or an authorised Reseller or by means of the sending of the Software Package. If the Software is not transferred by Download, the transfer of the licence file to the Licensee shall take place by means of the sending of a sealed system disk by post, or, by order of the Licensee (as in other cases also at the option of the Licensor), by email. In a case where the Licensee downloads the main programme or the licence file, the transfer shall be deemed to have taken place when downloading is complete. With the main programme, the Licensee receives the documentation; this shall be made available to the Licensee by the Licensor (and at the Licensor's option), as a file in a standard format (e.g. html, txt or pdf), irrespective of how the Software is transferred. If the Licensee receives the Software by means of downloading by modem or from the Licensor's or an authorized Retailer's server via the Internet, he/she shall download the Documentation in the same manner.

4) The Software individually described in the documentation is commensurate with state-of-the-art technology. The Licensee is advised that with today's state-of-the art technology, it is not possible to manufacture Software in such a way that it works in every case and in a problemfree manner with all applications and in all combinations (especially with third-party Software). It has to be used in software surroundings as described in the Info.txt.

5) The Software may not be used in danger zones where error-free continuous operation is demanded (high-risk activities like, for example, the operation of atomic power facilities, weapons systems, aerospace navigation or communication systems and /or life-support machines).

§2 Scope of Use

The Licensor grants the Licensee the simple, non-exclusive and personal right to use the Software within the agreed scope of use - particularly with regard to the type and number of computers, for the duration of the contract (the "Licence"). The scope of the licence is binding defined and can be seen in the INFO.TXT file, which the Licensee receives together with the licence file. The INFO.TXT shall additionally be enclosed to this licence document as an appendix.

§3 Copyrights and Transfer of the Software

1) The Licensee may reproduce the Software, if such reproduction is necessary for the use of the Software. Necessary reproductions include the installation of the Software from the original system disk or from the downloaded installation archive on the mass memory of the hardware in accordance with § 2, as well as the loading of the Software into the main memory during Software operation.

2) Moreover, the Licensee may reproduce the Software for backup purposes. However, only one backup copy of the original system disk or the downloaded installation archive may be created and/or stored. Said copy must be marked as a backup.

3) Should a rotational backup of a system's entire data set, including the software programmes, be essential for a fast reactivation of the system following a complete breakdown, Licensee may create backup copies in the quantities absolutely required. The pertinent system disks shall be marked accordingly. These backup copies may be used for archive purposes in connection with data backup only.

4) Licensee shall take the necessary steps to prohibit unauthorized access to the Software and its documentation by third parties. Affiliated companies of the Licensee are also regarded as being third parties. The original data media, as well as all backup copies, shall be stored in a secure place, safe from access by unauthorized third parties. The Licensee's employees shall be expressly informed as to their obligations to observe and abide by all contractual conditions specified herein, as well as all provisions of copyright law.

5) If you have purchased an upgrade version of the Product, such upgrade constitutes a single product together with the copy of the Product that you upgraded. This means that, although you may have two sets of Product media, you still have only one license. Therefore, you may not transfer the original copy of the Product to any other party.

6) The Licensee is not authorised,

a. with the exception of the reproductions expressly authorised in this agreement, to create other reproductions of the Software or the documentation, either wholly or in part, on the same or on other disks/carrier media; this also includes the output of the programme code to a printer;

b. to transfer the Software from one computer to another computer or recording device via a network or other data transfer channel, insofar as the receiving device is not a computer or other recording device of the Licensee which is referred to in, and understood to be within, the framework of this Agreement;

c. without the written express permission of the Licensor, to change, translate or retro-develop, the Software, or to create works derived from the Software or the documentation, or to reproduce, translate, change or create works derived from the documentation, in so far as this is not absolutely necessary within the context of contractual use;

d. to remove copyright endorsements, serial numbers or other features which serve to identify the programme, unless the Licensor has provided written authorisation beforehand;

e. to transfer the Software to third parties or to provide access to the Software in any other form. This also applies to reproduction of the Software.

Affiliated companies of the Licensee shall also be regarded in principle as third parties; transferring the Software within the group of companies for exclusive use at the new site shall be authorised in writing by the Licensor - such authorisation may only be denied for a major reason. In this case, adherence to the scope of use as per § 2 and § 3, any other agreements made in this contract and any possible secondary agreements shall be ensured. When such transfer has occurred, the Licensee must fully delete the Software and any backup copies still at the previous site of use within the group of companies without delay;

f. to transfer the Software, the documentation or parts thereof to third parties for the purposes of renting or leasing over a period of time.

§4 Other Rights to the Software

Within the context of the performance of the existing agreement, any purchase of full rights by the Licensee shall only take place on the physical system disks on which the Software and the documentation are recorded. Purchase of utilisation rights or rights of use for the Software and the documentation shall only take place insofar as this is expressly intended in the existing agreement. The Licensor retains in particular all publication rights, reproduction rights, editing rights, translation rights and other utilization rights to the Software.

§5 Term and Termination

1) The Licensee has the right to use the Software and the documentation indefinitely.

2) The right of both parties to exceptional termination shall remain unaffected, if a major reason for such termination exists. In particular, the Licensor has the right to terminate without notice in the case of substantial violations of contractual obligations on the part of the Licensee.

3) After a termination, the Licensee is liable under contract to fully delete all Software, in particular the original system disk if delivered, any backup copies and any pertinent Software files installed on his/her computer. The Licensee shall also return all pertinent documentation. The Licensor has the right to demand a sworn statement from the Licensee regarding such deletion.

§6 Warranty and Cooperation of the Licensee

1) Warranty claims by the Licensee for Software defects or defective documentation shall only be made to the supplier of the Software - in particular to the retailer.

2) If the Licensor is also the supplier - in the case of direct purchase of the Software from the Licensor - the Licensor shall warrant the possibility of use in conformity with the documentation, if no other agreement on special cases has been made. The legal warranty period shall begin with the transfer of the Software as per § 1.

2. If the Licensee is not a consumer as defined within the meaning of the German Civil Code (BGB), the following shall also apply: The warranty period shall amount to 12 months; in the case of deviations from the documentation, where such deviations considerably affect contractual use, the Licensor, at his/her option, shall be obliged to supply a replacement or subsequent improvement. If the Licensor cannot correct such deviations (within an appropriate time limit) through the delivery of replacements or subsequent improvements, or if the Licensor cannot bypass such deviations in such a way that the Licensee is enabled contractual use of the Software, or if the delivery of replacements or subsequent improvements are deemed to have failed due to any other causes, the Licensee, at his/her option, can demand a reduction in the purchase price or cancel the licence for the programme without notice. In the latter case, the Licensee shall also be entitled to a full refund of the purchase price.

Furthermore, the Licensee shall respect that according to German trade law ("HGB") he has to report errors directly after getting knowledge of them and that to preserve his rights of warranty he has to test the purchased product directly after receiving it. Missing these terms makes the Licensee lose any rights of warranty.

3) When reporting errors, the Licensee shall endeavour to be extremely precise in the description, narrowing down, determination and reporting of such errors - to this end, he/she shall use competent employees. Where applicable, checklists supplied by the retailer or Licensor shall be used.

§7 Liability and Third Party Proprietary Rights

- 1) In the case of damages for which he/she is responsible, the Licensor shall be liable to pay up to five times the amount of the price paid upon delivery of the Software or licence file. Standard in this case is the net amount paid (without VAT) at the time of purchase.
- 2) The Licensor shall not be held liable for any lack of economic success, for indirect damages, consequential damages and for damages arising from third party claims, with the exception of claims pertaining to the infringement of third party proprietary rights.
- 3) The Licensor shall only be held liable for ordinary negligence in so far as an obligation is violated, adherence to which is of major importance for the attainment of the object of this contract (cardinal obligation).
- 4) For the recovery of data and other damages due to loss of data, the Licensor shall only be liable to pay an amount typical for the effort and costs involved in such a recovery, and only then if the Licensee has ensured that this data (as defined within the meaning of proper data processing from data banks) is held in readiness in machine-readable form, can be reproduced with a justifiable amount of effort, and if the Licensee has in particular carried out regular and risk-pertinent creation of backup copies.
- 5) The limitations of liability in Nr. 1)-4) do not apply to damages caused by malice or gross negligence on the part of the Licensor, his/her legal representatives, responsible employees, auxiliary persons and damages arising from injury to life, body or health.
- 6) If the Licensee is in violation of any of the limitations of use contained in the existing contract, in particular of § 1.4, liability on the part of the Licensor for damages arising from such violation shall be excluded.
- 7) Liability in accordance with the product liability law ("Produkthaftungsgesetz") shall remain unaffected.
- 8) If a third party, in spite of the Licensee's contractually correct use of the valid, unchanged original version of the Software or documentation, makes claims against the Licensee claiming infringement of industrial property rights or infringement of copyright in the German Federal Republic, the Licensor shall defend and settle any suit brought against the Licensee by a third party (not an affiliate) based on a claim that the Product infringes upon any copyright and Licensor will pay those costs and damages finally awarded against the Licensee in such suit that are specifically attributable to such claims or those amounts payable by the Licensee under a settlement of such suit. The foregoing obligations are conditioned on the Licensee: (a) notifying Licensor promptly in writing of such action; (b) giving Licensor sole control of the defense thereof and any related settlement negotiations; and (c) cooperating and, at Licensor's request and expense, assisting in such defense. If the Product becomes, or in Licensor's opinion is likely to become, the subject of an infringement claim that Licensor is required to defend, then Licensor may (at its option and expense) either: (a) procure for Licensee the right to continue using the Product; (b) replace or modify the Product so that it becomes non-infringing; or (c) terminate this License and Licensee's rights hereunder to use the Product and refund a pro rata portion of any license fee Licensee paid under this License, based on a three (3) year product life. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Licensor will have no obligation under this Section 8 or otherwise with respect to any infringement claim based upon: (a) any use of the Product not in accordance with this License or the Product's accompanying documentation; (b) any use of the Product in combination with other products, equipment, software, or data not provided by Licensor; (c) any use of any version of the Product other than the most current version made available to the Licensee; or (d) any modification of the Product by any person other than Licensor or its authorized agents ("Excluded Claims"). You will indemnify Licensor against all liability, damages and costs (including reasonable attorneys' fees) resulting from or related to an Excluded Claim. This section 8 states Licensor's entire liability and Licensee's sole and exclusive remedy for third-party claims relating to the Product.

9) If claims in accordance with §8 or other claims for an infringement of third part proprietary rights have been made, or are expected to be made against the Licensee, the Licensor, at his/her option, has the right to change or exchange all or part of the Software and/or documentation at his/her own expense, to an extent that is deemed reasonable for the Licensee. 10) If a case arises involving §8 and §9, when a Software change or the execution of a right of use is not possible with reasonable effort, each contractual partner can cancel the licence for the Software involved without notice.

§8 Updates

1) With the purchase of the licence file, the Licensee may receive and install updates. Updates are made available to the Licensee via download from the website of the Licensor - unless otherwise agreed. It may be necessary that the Licensee has to get a registration to benefit from the update downloads made available on the website of the Licensor or by eMail. Details according to the registration can be given after the purchase procedure and will be given on the website of the Licensor or by eMail.

2) Provided that no other terms have been agreed for the purchase of updates, the conditions given by the Licensor on his website apply.

§9 Remuneration of the Licensor

1) If conclusion and implementation of the existing contract take place without the involvement of the retail trade, i.e. directly with the Licensor, or with the intermediation of an online platform,

a) the Licensor shall receive a one-off fee, which - when agreed upon - may include an update subscription for a specified kind of use and/ or update, from the Licensee in a way described on behalf of the purchase procedure. The amount of the licence fee is either taken from the Licensor's price list which is/was valid at the time of ordering and which can be accessed on the Licensor's website, or derived from a different agreement.

b) If not differently agreed upon, the licence fee in accordance with a.) shall be paid upon transfer of the Software to the Licensee. The Licensee shall receive an invoice for the payable amount.

2) If the Software is purchased through a retailer, the licence fee, which may include an update subscription for a specified kind of use and/ or update, is discharged upon payment of the purchase price.

§ 10 General Provisions

1) Canadian Transactions. If Licensee is subject to Canadian law, Licensee agrees to the following: The parties hereto have expressly required that the present License and its Exhibits be drawn up in the English language. / Les parties aux présentes, ont expressément exigé que la présente Convention et ses Annexes soient rédigées en langue anglaise.

2) Hazardous Uses. The Product is not intended for use in connection with any application requiring fail-safe performance such as the operation of nuclear power facilities, air traffic control or navigation systems, weapons control systems, life support systems, or any other system whose failure could lead to injury, death, environmental damage or mass destruction. Licensee agrees that Licensor will have no liability of any nature, and Licensee is solely responsible, for any expense, loss, injury or damage incurred as a result of such use of the Product.

3) Entire License; Severability. This License constitutes the entire, final and exclusive agreement between the parties regarding the specific license transaction described herein. If any provision of this License is held to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable for any reason, then such provision will be enforced to the maximum extent permissible and the remainder of the provisions of this License will remain in full force and effect.

4) Assignment. Licensee may not transfer the Software media, assign this License or assign any rights or delegate any of the obligations under this License, by operation of law or otherwise (including by merger, sale of assets or consolidation), without Licensor's prior written consent. Any attempted assignment in violation of this Section 13.5 will be void.

5) Waiver and Modifications. All waivers must be in writing. Any waiver or failure to enforce a provision of this License on one occasion shall not be deemed a waiver of any other provision or such provision on any other occasion. This License may only be amended by a written document signed by both parties.

6) Licensee agrees and certifies that neither the Software nor any other technical data received from Licensor, nor the direct product thereof, will be exported outside the place of purchase or re-exported except as authorized and as permitted by the laws and regulations of Germany and/ or the United States and/or the laws and regulations of the jurisdiction (if other than Germany or the United States) in which Company rightfully obtained the Software.

§11 Miscellaneous

1) Any changes in, and/or supplements to this contract, including this clause, must be made in writing. Verbal supplements to this contract shall under no circumstances be made. General Terms and Conditions of Business of the Licensee are not part of this contract and have no legal force where this contractual relationship is concerned.

2) If a provision of this contract ceases to be effective or proves to be not feasible, and the attainment of the object of this contract is nevertheless still not essentially impossible, the lawfulness of any remaining provisions shall remain unaffected. Both parties shall replace the provision which is ineffective or not feasible by one which, in a legally valid and economical manner, comes closest to the sense and purpose of the ineffective provision.

3) The laws of the German Federal Republic apply to this contract. Place of jurisdiction for merchants (who are Licensees) is the registered office of the Licensor. Nevertheless the Licensor is free to choose any other legally given place of jurisdiction.

4) Licensee acknowledges that the Product in source code form remains a confidential trade secret of the Licensor. Licensee agrees to hold this information in confidence, not disclose it to any person, and not use it for any purpose other than the use and operation of the Product as permitted under this License.

5) In the case of delivery in EU countries, price calculation without VAT can only occur if the Licensee has provided his/her VAT ID.
